A brilliant social event was held at Rauscher's last evening, the occasion being the annual banquet for the fac ulty, alumni, friends, and other classes by the junior class of the Washington College of Law. It was the twelfth annual affair of this kind which has been given by classes of the institution in past years, and is in commemoration of the joining of the first students, thirteen years ago.

Over a hundred friends of the students and faculty were present. Old have been introduced which are radical the pawnshop and asked to be shown a college days were talked over by the and unfair, and they will not be passed. short talks between the regular numbers on the programme.
